DR. J. L. LEE INSTALLED

Interesting Services at the First Presbyterian Church.

DOCTOR MARSHALL'S ADDRESS

To the New Pastor Was Very Impressive. While the Charge of Reverend Lowry Contained Some Good Advice—A Great Crowd of People Filled the Church to Overflowing.

The sleet and rain had no effect upon the audience at the First Presbyterian church last evening, the auditorium, as well as the Sunday school room, being packed with a great crowd.

Decorations of laurel and evergreen enhanced the pleasing effect presented in the room, and the great mass of people seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion when, after the organ solo by E. K. Macrum, they rose to utter the swelling strains of the doxology. Doctor Milligan prayed earnestly for a few minutes, and a special choir rendered the ever beautiful "Gloria" from Mozart. The scripture reading by Rev. B. M. Price was followed by prayer from Dr. J. A. Cook, and a hymn came before Rev. Frank DeWitt Talmage preached the sermon of the evening. This was followed by a solo by Mrs. J. C. Thompson, rendered in the inimitable manner so well known in East Liverpool, and the installation of the pastor, Rev. John Lloyd Lee, Ph. D., came next. The constitutional questions were asked by the moderator, Rev. J. C. Kreusch, and were answered in a clear but, low voice by Doctor Lee. Doctor Marshall delivered the charge to the pastor, not a sound being heard in that vast audience as he declared that the minister was an ambassador for God, and he must be faithful to the trust imposed in him. He was to deliver the message, preach the gospel plainly, and be able to say when the end is reached "I gave the word thou gavest me." In the second place he was to hold fast, to stand firmly by the true principle. To preach the word as the gospel, and not use science and philosophy as a substitute. It the third place the pastor was to keep his hand upon the throne, for he must have power from on high, and that he cannot have without his hand upon the throne. The duty of the minister was to uplift, but never to pull down. Many sermons were useless things, as stones scattered through the valley, because they were preached in self confidence, when they should have been delivered in close communion with the Saviour, with a hand upon the throne. Doctor Marshall then advised the pastor of his relations, reminding him that while the people made up a harmonious congregation, there were at times a difference of opinion, and he must remember the text of the old lady taken from the 50th chapter and 100th verse of Heseiah, "Gird on and Bear It." "Then may God bless you, take your hand, lead you, and crown you in His name."

Reverend Lowry, of Wellsville, then spoke to the people reminding them that he had performed the same ceremony with Doctor Marshall seven years ago, when he preached the most effective sermon of his life, but never got any credit for it. The leadership of a pastor must be recognized; he is the conductor of the train, and is entitled to fair treatment. The people must have confidence in his judgment; they must not treat him with suspicion. The congregation must remember that there are over a thousand of them, but they must concede their fallibility, and do that which is right. The speaker then went into a lengthy discussion of the qualifications of a minister, and incidentally scored a magazine editor for what he had written on the subject. He warned the people not to disagree with their pastor on politics, saying that while he was not a politician he was a citizen, and as such must vote. He could not please them all, but they would prefer an open avowal to seeing him straddling any great question, the reverend gentleman ending with an earnest appeal to the people to accept the new pastor in all sincerity and faith, taking care of him, and giving him an opportunity to be successful. After Doctor Gaston had delivered an eloquent prayer, the congregation sang "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" and Doctor Lee pronounced the benediction. Fully 1,300 people attended the services, and by some the estimate is placed at even a larger number.

At the meeting of presbytery yesterday afternoon the affairs of the Irondale church were discussed at length. The congregation asked to have their pastor retained only half time, but presbytery decided to lend financial aid, and he will be retained. A missionary convention for Wellsville, to take place in February, was arranged, and the meeting adjourned. Some of the ministers went home this morning.

A reminiscence meeting is being held in the church this afternoon, a large number of persons being in attendance. All the ministers who were once pastors of the church, and are in the city, are at the meeting.

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE.

Mrs. Rowe Says Some One Blows Acids and Gases.

Mrs. Betsy Rowe, a well known resident of College street, appeared at the trustees and Humane society office and asked for some of the officers of the latter organization. She thinks some one is intent upon murdering her and her son Jase, and told a harrowing story of how the villains had blown acids and foul gases through the keyhole in the door of their room until she and her son were several times well nigh suffocated. She believed some rich man was at the head of the scheme to get rid of them, thinking he would get money. This, she thought was not humanity, and wanted the Humane society to see that it was stopped. The woman was referred to the health officer, who was out of the city. He will likely have a startling case.

Two Big Meetings.

The joint meeting of the state board of health and local board of Columbus, which was attended by East Liverpool people as mentioned elsewhere, was a big success. Among the most interesting subjects discussed was a paper on the diptheria scourge in Ashtabula which caused 100 cases and 24 deaths. The disease started from impure milk which one wagon dealt out. Governor McKinley addressed Thursday's meeting speaking of the importance of the enforcement of health laws and the opportunities before the different boards of health.

N. A. Frederick, of this city, who represented the Potters' association and board of commerce at the national convention of manufacturers at Cleveland, returned home this morning and said it was the best meeting he ever attended. Governor McKinley delivered an eloquent address at the session.

A General Laugh.

Among the street car men, who knew that there were no more than 500 volts of electricity in the trolley wire when it was down at the East End trestle yesterday, there was a general laugh last night at a scare-head article in a local sheet detailing the "thrilling, narrow escape of the line-man." Many of the employees have been nearer killed by electricity than the line-man, and didn't think it worth while to mention it. Superintendent Andrews was nowhere in the vicinity while repairing was being done, and consequently did not rush to the rescue. Somebody has been faking somebody.

Only One Way.

A civil engineer who is in a position to know what he is talking about says that the ground on the Ohio side of the river is much better for railroad purposes than the rocky hills of West Virginia. Were it not for the expense of securing right of way on this side no engineer would hesitate for a minute between the two. Should the much talked of line be constructed on the other side of the river some of it will be built on stilts.

Strange, but We All Like It.

East Liverpool is in a bad way. The doctors of the town have formed a combination and fixed uniform rates for treatment of patients, and just as the angry passions of the people there begin to warm up the announcement is made that an ice company has squeezed the last local dealer, and will hereafter have a monopoly of the business. There's no use trying to keep cool in Liverpool under such circumstances.—Salem News.

Called Him a Thief.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS REVIEW.
LISBON, Jan. 26.—S. H. Maneval, of East Palestine, this afternoon entered suit against Samuel S. Koph, for $3,000 damages to his character. He claims that in November last Koph accused him in the presence of a number of people of stealing some syrup gauges and called him a thief. His reputation was thereby injured.

New Light.

The Independent Automatic Light company of Massillon have placed their lights in Hamilton's drug store. Those introducing the new illuminator claim that it furnishes superb lights, at much less cost than electricity.

NO LEASE YET SIGNED

In the First National Bank-Hotel Matter.

MONEY MAY BE ABLE TO DO IT

But There Is No Contract Yet—Mr. Maxwell In the City Looking After the Project—There May Be a Handsome New Hotel, and There May Not.

The question which agitates the public mind at present is as to the outcome of negotiations looking to the occupancy of the First National Bank building as a hotel. The movement has been on foot for some time, and Dame Rumor has been busy with the project. And now comes Mr. Maxwell, of Pittsburg, with practical propositions, and an evident determination to accomplish his desires and take possession of the building and property in question.

There is a possibility that he may accomplish his purpose, and then again there are probabilities that he may meet with failure. Money consideration is one of the features which may bar the movement out. The property is a very valuable one, and it will require a snug sum to induce the owners to vacate and seek quarters elsewhere. Should this difficulty be overcome, and Mr. Maxwell prove himself able and willing to surmount financial obstructions, then comes in play, as a further objection, the fact that floors and rooms of the building have been sub-let or leased, some of the leases reaching into the future for quite a number of years. Does the would-be purchaser have such a strong desire to own and occupy this block as to cause him to offer such flattering pecuniary inducements to said lessees as to cause them to be willing and eager to vacate in his favor?

The NEWS REVIEW aims at giving its readers reliable information in all important matters connected with East Liverpool and vicinity. With this aim in view, some of those more particularly interested in the matter referred to were interviewed, and while they would not say that the purchase would not be effected, and the building transformed into a hotel, they did say that, in their opinion, judging from the present aspect of affairs, the transformation is not likely to occur. Money is a power, however, and can accomplish much, and we can only await developments.

RETAIN MRS. MARTIN.

Or at Least Wait Until a Question Has Been Decided.

There seems to be a difference of opinion regarding the appointment of an assistant postmaster, and some authority higher than any in this place will likely be called upon to properly construe the law. It is said that the rule relating to the extension of the civil service to this one position is so ambiguous as to be generally misunderstood, two constructions being placed upon it by those who have investigated. If the point will be decided in her favor Mrs. Martin will keep her position.

Mrs. Martin has been in the employ of the government, for nine years, and in that time has become one of the most popular postal clerks in the city. She is thoroughly competent, and understands every detail of the work while any recruit would be at a disadvantage, and would impede the progress of the office. So universally is this recognized that prominent citizens, who do a large business with the office, have urged that she be retained. There are Democrats in the city who have the same opinion, but before any action is taken the decision of President Proctor, of the civil service commission, should be carefully considered. The NEWS REVIEW states upon the authority of a man, who should know, that the appointment at Steubenville was not made until after the revised rules governing Mrs. Martin's position were passed.

A Sad Affair.

A well known young man employed at the glass house escorted his test girl to the train the other day, and as she was leaving he pulled out his handkerchief to brush away the tears which coursed down his cheeks in rivulets. As he did so a couple of large onions fell on the platform, and the young man's grief was turned to amazement as the crowd laughed loud and long. He is now despondent as he is certain the absent one will never again speak to him.

On Installation.

A Broadway restaurant man is in receipt of a letter from Meyersdale, Pa., stating that the writer was sorry that he had run off and left such a big board bill but, if he would try him again he would pay it in installments. He said it was impossible to pay board and sport as he would like to on $6 a day. The letter wound up with a long list of boarders whom he advises the restaurateur to look out for as they are in the same box. Although no name is signed the proprietor recognizes the writer, and as he doesn't happen to have any bad accounts sees in the letter a huge joke.

Making Them Useful.

Mayor Gilbert had Brookes and Burroughs cleaning up city hall this morning while Brookes was waiting for the weather to clear so he can be taken to Lisbon, and Burroughs is hoping that his friends will raise the price of a small fine and have him released.

Miller and Smith, the Rochester drunks, were permitted to go after paying a part of their fines. They have friends here to look after them.

Big Hearted Women.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer edition of Thursday was gotten out entirely by women, and contains at least one item which East Liverpool motemen will appreciate. Under the heading of "Some Things We Would Like to See" they express a desire to view the somewhat novel sight of a "Little Consolidated" magnate riding behind a canvas vestibule in a Cleveland blizzard on a midnight run. How would a Liverpool blizzard do?

Hay Beats Gold.

You talk about the power of gold and silver, and the desire of hearts all over the land is to garner the precious metals. But think for a moment of the value of a simple agricultural product, in a single state of this glorious land of ours. Reliable authority states that the annual hay crop of Iowa exceeds in value as three to one the annual output of gold and silver in this country, and would pay off the entire national debt.

No Quorum Present.

The Good Citizenship league, organized a week ago to aid the authorities in enforcing the law, held no meeting this week. The society should have assembled in the First Presbyterian church, but the members failed to arrive in sufficient numbers to permit of the transaction of business. Another attempt will be made to get a quorum at the Young Men's Christian association parlors next Tuesday evening.

Funeral Services Today.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Jennie Gearen, who died Thursday evening with consumption, will be held in the Salvation Army barracks at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Captain Stafford will conduct the impressive ceremony, the deceased being one of this tireless band of workers in the cause of Christianity. The remains will be laid to rest in Spring Grove cemetery.

Henry Webber Dead.

Henry Webber, a well-known young man of Market street, died last night after a long illness, a complication of diseases being the cause. He was 31 years of age and was never married. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment being in Riverview cemetery.

No Better Today.

Isaac Walters' condition is unchanged today and there is not the slightest hope for his recovery. The injuries Mr. Walters received by being struck by a sled recently show plainly upon his face and head and are undoubtedly the direct cause of his rapid decline.

More Evidence Found.

More evidence against the East Liverpool men arrested at Empire has been found, and the indications show that they must fight hard to get out of the net. Their bond was placed at $500, and when they could not give it they were locked up.

Irondale's Hard Luck.

The public schools of Irondale have been closed to prevent the spreading of scarlet fever which has appeared in the town in force. Already there are three cases, but every precaution is being taken. The mill continues to run, and there is not the slightest sign of trouble.

We Gain Two.

S. Henderson and family, of Rochester, have moved to the city, and will reside here.

A. Bernstein, of Pittsburg, has moved with his family to this place. No families have left town for almost a week.

Send in Your Gift.

The ladies of the Methodist church who are making up the car for the Nebraska sufferers, will receive contributions at the church on Jackson street until Monday evening.

A BIG FIELD OF GLASS

Is What East Liverpool Streets Are Like Today.

BAD ACCIDENTS ARE NUMEROUS

And the Righteous Fall as Often as the Wicked—Hundreds of People Skating on Streets Which Resemble Frozen Ponds—The City Never Saw Anything Like It Before.

The ice this morning brought many a man to his knees, and afforded no end of sport to the boys who dared the dangers of the hill streets. The storm was general, and the whole of this section was covered with a sheet of ice an inch thick. The storm originated in the north west, and came down in a gale, the wind being fiercer than at any other time during the winter.

The visitation of ice left the city in a condition such as was never known before. It was a solid sheet of slippyness, upon which it required courage and energy to stand. The hill streets were almost impassable, but members of the fire department soon improved them by a liberal sprinkling of salt. Barrel after barrel was disposed of in this way, and some good was done. Ashes, that wonderful antidote for the falling feeling, were conspicuous by their absence, only one man, a Second street saloonkeeper, having thought to sprinkle the pavement. All the streets above Fourth were transformed into ice rinks before 9 o'clock, and several hundred boys and girls enjoyed the sport, skating almost to the bluff, and then being driven back by the strong wind.

Adams' bus collided with a sled at the corner of Sixth street this morning, and sent the men who were in the sled to the ground. The load, country produce and grain, was scattered in all directions, but the only injury was to the driver of the sled, who injured his shoulder.

The brother of Pop Corn Jim was coasting down Broadway this morning but gained such speed before he reached his place of business that he could not stop. Neither could he stop when he reached the railroad, but the sled struck an obstruction, and together with a bucket of corn, went over the hill. The man was not badly hurt.

Among the most seriously injured persons who figured in accidents this morning was Albert Smith, and it will be several weeks before he will feel as well as usual. Smith is driver for Faulk Brothers and was coming down Market street when the wagon began to slip. Just opposite city hall the horse fell, and the wagon turned over twice. Smith was carried to the ground with the vehicle and badly mixed up in the wreck. The horse rolled on him and the wagon also struck him in several parts of the body. Several people about city hall saw the accident and hastened to the spot. Smith was carried into the mayor's office and Dr. W. T. Norris called. A stretcher and sled were procured, and the injured man taken to his home on Lincoln avenue. Here an examination showed that he was badly hurt. The thigh was fractured and on the other side badly bruised. Smith suffered intense pain until the fracture was reduced, but is resting easier this afternoon. Barring internal injuries of which there are no signs at present, the man's injuries are not dangerous.

In a New Position.

Mr. Walter Cochran, lately engaged on the Fourth street school building, will go to McKeesport, Pa., where he will superintend a large contract of grading. An intimate friend of the young gentleman makes the statement that Mr. Cochran will be one of the principals in a wedding ere he assumes his new berth. If this assertion is correct, the NEWS REVIEW unites with a large circle of friends in wishing Mr. C. and his fair partner lives of unalloyed pleasure.

The Ensign.

The Ensign, which will be seen at the Grand tonight, is among the best naval plays on the road. The play is well staged with all the appurtenances for producing a model entertainment. The ship's bell which taps the hour is the relic of an old Spanish galleon picked up in Havana.

Recovering From a Fall.

Squire Gould, who fell down the steps at his residence on Washington street and injured his left leg, is able to be out, although he walks with great difficulty.

Another Addition.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., SATURDAY, JAN. 26.

For President,
WILLIAM MCINLEY,
OF OHIO.

THE papers which advocate the selection of General Miles as the Republican standard bearer two years hence must bear in mind that the next president must be a statesman, not merely a soldier.

THE clouds are gathering about the devoted heads of the faithful Democracy because of the appointment of an assistant to Postmaster Miskill; that is the clouds are getting a little thicker. It has been many months since there was a clear sky.

THERE is rivalry in the Republican camp; there are men anxious to have their favorite candidates chosen at the state convention; there is a determination on the part of some to send Josie Benson Foraker to the senate, but it is a feeling which will not endanger the success of the party and can leave no gaping holes before election.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO SPREAD.

If there be any truth in the statement that some great railroad corporation is seeking to enter Pittsburgh by a line from Steubenville, the men of Liverpool should be up and doing. A new road would be a mighty convenience, but when we know that the project means a competing line with the Pennsylvania company that convenience becomes a blessing. There are reasons why the line should cross the river at Steubenville, and striking across the country make its way into Pittsburgh regardless of the Ohio valley, but there are more powerful
river at Steubenville to Rochester on this side of the river, the only possible objection being the cost of right of way on the Ohio side. Perhaps there would be a general shaking up of the dry bones if the board of commerce would place the facts before the men who are interested in the new road. It might influence them to know that while the cost of passing through this place is in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million dollars, it would be a paying investment to spend the money. The plan is worthy of investigation.

It May Do as Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called kidney cures but without good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50 cts. for large bottle. At Potts drug store.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts,

STRIKERS GIVING UP.

Some of Them Return to Work In Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR SAYS IT'S OVER

So Far as Affecting the Convenience of the Public Is Concerned - Master Workman Connelly Still Says the Men Will Win - Several Riots.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 26.—Mayor Schieren expresses the opinion that the strike is over, so far as it affects the convenience of the public. Colonel Appleton of the Seventh regiment said he expected to be relieved from duty very soon. Master Workman Connelly still maintains that the strikers will win, but a dozen strikers have applied to the Brooklyn City railroad for reinstatement and have been put to work. Street car officials say they will be glad to take back old men, but they will not be allowed to displace the new ones taken on.
More cars have been running. Mayor Schieren declares, as a result of personal inspection, that the lines are giving good service. The mandamus, which it is sought to have issued to compel the companies to run cars, is not of much importance under these circumstances.
Judge Gaynor has reserved his decision.

The temper of the strikers shows an accent of bitterness, but they do not manifest a sanguine spirit any more.
A serious disturbance has occurred at Green Point in opening up the Flushing and Graham avenue line. There were no militiamen stationed at that point and the police force was not strong enough to cope with the mob of 2,000 which made riotous demonstrations and stoned the cars. Father P. T.
O'Hare of St. Anthony's church had given Mayor Schieren an assurance that he would be responsible for the maintenance of order at that point. In his zeal to keep his agreement, he persuaded the new motormen to leave their cars in order to remove the cause of the trouble. Then he read to the mob a message from Mayor Schieren, saying that unless order was preserved he would have to send militia. The crowd then dispersed and the stalled cars were run back to the depot, but no further attempt to run them was made.

At Maspeth a lot of non-union motormen were taken from a car and locked up in a hall by strikers. When released some of them claimed they had been maltreated.

The demonstrations have been confined principally to wirecutting and to small and unorganized attacks on the street car property or on the militia.
An effort is being made to secure an indictment of murder against the militiamen who shot Thomas Carney, the tinroofer, on Hicks street, who died as a result of his wound.

When the Brooklyn, Queens County and Suburban railroad system opened up its Second Street line, several cars were assailed with showers of stones and other missiles. Three shots were also fired from the windows of houses, and one of the bullets knocked off two fingers from Motorman Schesner's left hand. The officers entered the house from which the shots came and arrested two men and a woman.

Two Killed and Others Wounded.

SUNBURY, Pa., Jan. 26.—A freight train on the Sunbury and Lewistown railroad ran into a Selkirk's Grove sleigh party at Krenner's station. The driver, Charles Bonig, aged 24 years, was literally ground to pieces under the wheels. His father, Isaac Bonig, was sitting on the seat. His skull was crushed and his body was found on the pilot. Lawyer A. W. Potter had both arms crushed. Miss Mollie Burns, aged 21 years, had her right leg so badly crushed that it was amputated at the knee. Miss Lettie Eby had both legs injured. Mrs. Charles Ulrich was injured about the spine. Not one of the party escaped without a bruise of some kind.

A Blizzard in the Southwest.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26.—A severe blizard prevails all over the southwest, with no sign of abatement. An average of 3 feet of snow has fallen. It is very cold and with the thermometer still on the drop, much suffering must ensue.
The storm is the severest through Central and Western Kansas and the territories. From the territories reports of many cattle freezing to death have already been received, and as the settlers are none too well provided with food and shelter, probably many fatalities will be recorded.

Fire in a Mine.

HAZELTON, Pa., Jan. 26.—Fire of unknown origin broke out in Hazle mine slope, operated by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company. The fire is supposed to have started in the pump, 300 yards from the surface. The flames have already climbed to the tower work leading to the breaker, and that structure is in great danger. The city fire department men have been at work tearing down the tower to endeavor to save the breaker.

President Faure's Daughter Betrothed.

PARIS, Jan. 26.—The betrothal of Mlle Lucie Faure, daughter of the president of the republic, to M. Paul Deschanel, a member of the chamber of deputies, is announced. M. Paul Deschanel is the son of M. Emile Deschanel, the eminent professor. He is a Republican, the author of a number of political and literary works and is now attached to the staff of The Journal Des Debats.

Two Killed by a Cyclone.

NEW IBERIA, La., Jan. 26.—A cyclone of considerable violence has passed over the east end of this city, blowing down the shingle factory, smoke stack and dry kiln escapes, fences, some small houses and uprooting trees. The residence of Dupeville Miller at Port Leger was completely demolished. Miller was killed and his children were badly, but not fatally injured. A child of Mr.

A 20 Per Cent Reduction.

ASHLAND, Ky., Jan. 26.—The Norton Ironworks has announced a 20 per cent cut in wages of all tonnage men. It will be accepted without opposition and work will be resumed at once.

THE EXTERNAL WORLD.

How an Individual or a Scene May Have an Entirely Different Appearance to Two Persons—Happiness and Sorrow Made by Ourselves.

There have been philosophers who declared that the earth on which we stand and the stars on which we gaze have no real existence, but are merely the outcomes of our inner selves. Perhaps the best answer to this is that the mind itself, at least that of most people, refuses to receive the idea. The difference between the me and the not me is too sharply defined in the inner consciousness to permit Bishop Berkeley's notion of taking root within us.

Yet we cannot afford to overlook the germ of truth which this idea contains.
Though not literally the creation of our thought, the outer world is to each one of us largely that which we make it.
Nature herself, in all her varied scenes, whatever she may be in reality, shows herself to us in the light which we throw upon her. One man looks at a landscape and sees land and water, grass and trees, hills and plains, and nothing more. Another, a farmer, sees the growing crops, the prospect for future tillage and the obstacles to be overcome. Another, with a painter's eye, sees every variety of form and color, proportion and perspective, harmony and contrast, beauty and sublimity. To the melancholy man all is tinged with gloom—a leaden pall covers even the gayest scenes—while to the joyous everything seems bright and glad, and even the dreariest of November days only suggests the radiant sunlight that is sure later on to struggle through the clouds.

So with the sights of a city. For each of us as they take on the aspect of our own mental condition. How differently they impress the citizen who has spent his life among them from the foreigner who views them for the first time! What a different message the stately and magnificent buildings bear to the absorbed man of business and to the architect who appreciates every detail of their construction!

If there is so wide a divergence in the aspect which inanimate things have for us, the difference is still greater in the way we regard the men and women by whom we are surrounded. Character is a complex thing, difficult to detect, impossible to fathom, yet we presumptu-ously venture to gauge and pronounce upon it with the smallest modicum of knowledge. It is curious to notice how differently the same person will impress various individuals. His friend will perhaps see no fault in him, his enemy no virtue. One will put faith in him; another will suspect his every action. One will deem him cold hearted; another will think him affectionate and kind.
It must be that their own personalities are reflected in him, and that to a certain extent he does thus become for a time, while under their influence, what they suppose him to be always. It is certainly true that the good and gentle find far more goodness and gentleness in the world than those who are defecient in such qualities. It is the selfish man who is the keenest to detect selfishness in others; it is the overbearing who complain most of the arrogance and pride with which they are met, and the unjust who murmur at the injustice they receive. On the other hand, the loving and sympathetic discover love and sympathy everywhere; the noble and true bring to light nobility and truth which might otherwise be hidden.
Thus to a large extent we develop the character of those we meet. By a subtle magnetism we draw like to like and evolve out of other personalities the characteristics of our own.

Even the outward circumstances of life are largely what we ourselves make them. We are accustomed to consider prosperity a blessing and adversity a curse, but quite frequently they change places. It is the spirit in which they are received that determines their result.
The rich and self indulgent man, surrounded by luxury and opportunity, may be far less happy than his poorer neighbor who brings industry, fidelity and generosity into constant exercise. The same privileges that raise one young man to honor and usefulness are a snare and temptation to another. The same recreation that invigorates one enfeebles another. The same sorrow that softens one and leads him out of self to works of kindness and helpfulness prostrates another and renders him valueless. It is that which is within a man that so acts upon the externals of life as to decide their results to him, and through him to others.

Recovered Part of the Plunder.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—F. B. Barnes has been attested for complicity in the Ontario bank robbery four weeks ago.
Barnes was at a leading hotel and the arresting officer recovered $2,000, Barnes' share of the plunder. He claims to be a cousin of the Vanderbilts and says his father is in business in Austin.

Missing Man's Skeleton Found.

BEDFORD, Mass., Jan. 26.—The skeleton found near here last Wednesday has been identified by Mrs. Charles H.
Marston of Charlestown as that of her husband. He has been missing from home since Sept. 6, 1894, and was often heard to complain of pains in his head.

Joseph Donoghue, who skated here two years ago in 6:03 1-5.

THE EXTERNAL WORLD.

How an Individual or a Scene May Have
an Entirely Different Appearance to Two
Ourselves.

There have been philosophers who declared that the earth on which we stand
to receive the idea. The difference be-
of taking root within us.

germ of truth which this idea contains.
of us largely that which we make it.
Nature herself, in all her varied scenes,
perspective, harmony and contrast,

A Hand to Hand

Saber Fight.

Jan. 27 is the anniversary of a de-cider cavalry encounter between Burnside's and Longstreet's men in east Tennessee, 1861. The dashing sabreur, Colonel Edward M. McCook, the Hotspur of that fighting family, rode at the head of a cavalry division to attack two divisions of Martin's cavalry corps led by Morgan and Armstrong, both valorous captains.
The Confederate advance, having been driven back two miles step by step, united with the reserves and made a stand at the intersection of roads near Fair Garden. McCook led in his whole division on both sides of Fair Garden road, ending up with a galloping charge.
La Grange's demibrigade ran upon a superior force of Morgan's troopers around a battery which raked the Fair Garden road. Calling up detachments of the Second and Fourth Indiana, La Grange headed a magnificent and gallant dash along the road and into the battery, saluting the gunners and their cavalry supporters.

Two cannon and many prisoners were captured in the rush.
At the same time Major J. P. Leslie and a handful of men of the Fourth regiment, with drawn swords, charged from the highway into the field on the left, McCook and his staff, yielding to the fury of the hour, at their head. The opposing lines met on open ground with a fair field for a hand to hand combat.
The struggle was brief. Morgan's line was routed, his battleflag and escort captured, and Morgan himself barely escaped. In the height of the melee the gallant Leslie was shot dead by a bullet which pierced his left breast.

CONGRESS MUST ACT.

The Situation Demands Some Financial Legislation.

GOLD WITHDRAWALS ALARMING.

Amount This Week Greater Than For Any Week Since the Gold Reserve Was Established—Carlsberg May Be Authorized to Issue New Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The unprecedented withdrawals of gold from the treasury during the last few days have undoubtedly convinced many members of congress, hitherto indifferent or opposed to any financial legislation at this session, that the situation demands some action at their hands. Persons in a position to know the views of the president and leaders in congress, express the belief that a new measure will be introduced at an early day (or that one of the pending bills will be so modified as to embody the same general features) authorizing the secretary of the treasury to issue not more than $500, 000,000 3-per cent bonds, the proceeds of which to be used to recoup the gold reserve, meet government obligations and redeem United States notes, at the secretary's discretion, the contractions of the currency occasioned by the redemption of the United States notes to be offset by allowing national banks to increase their circulation to that amount.

It is further proposed to make certain concessions to the silver men in congress, but what those concessions will be, will depend upon the result of conference between the silver senators and the administration leaders. It is well known that the silver men are in a position to demand some positive legislation in their interest, but whether they at this time will go beyond a stipulation for the coinage of the seigniorage is uncertain. It is pointed out that the silver men all along have insisted that the great issue of the next national campaign must be silver and that the result would be a complete vindication of their contention that the people of the country favor free and unlimited coinage of both metals. It is argued, however, by friends of the administration, that the silver men at this time probably would be willing to accept any fair compromise in view of the necessities of the times and to postpone further demands until the people could be heard at the polls.

A New York special says: The engagements of gold for shipment by today's steamers aggregate $6,700,000.
This makes the total exports for the week $3,200,000, which is the largest amount shipped in any one week since April, 1903. The total withdrawals for the week amounts to $13,155,000. Not since the United States treasury established a gold reserve, has there been withdrawn for export in any one week an amount equal to this week's withdrawals.
For the four weeks, ending today, the gold shipments foot up nearly $20,000, 000, which is greater than any month's exports since last June.

NICARAGUA CANAL BILL PASSED.

The Senate Votes In Favor of the Government Backing the Project.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The bill pledging the faith of the United States to the construction of the Nicaragua canal, has passed the senate by the decisive vote of 31 yeas to 21 nays. It was the termination of a debate, which has lasted since the present session of congress began. It was, moreover, the first realization in either branch of congress, of the vast project so long and vigorously urged for a canal joining the Atlantic and Pacific, with the United States government standing sponsor for the execution of the work. The Nicaraguan minister and many other diplomats interested in the project, had seats in the diplomatic galleries throughout the voting on the many amendments, and the final question.

The bill, in brief, directs the issue of $20,000,000 of Nicaragua canal bonds.
Each of these is to bear the following guarantee: "The United States of America guarantees to the lawful holder of this bond, the payment by the Maritime Canal company of Nicaragua, of the principal of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon, and as it ac-crueth."

An additional $30,000,000 of bonds is to be issued without the United States guarantee. The total hundred millions thus issued is to be used in constructing the interoceanic canal. The secretary of the treasury is to have general supervision of the project. A board of 15 directors is to have immediate charge of the work. Of this board, the president is to designate ten members, no more than two from any one state. The United States is to receive $70,000,000 of canal company stock in return for guaranteeing the bonds, and is to hold a mortgage lien on all the property of the canal company.

Aside from the final debate and vote on the Nicaragua bill, the main interest of the day attached to a very caustic speech by Mr. Mills (Tex.), upholding the administration policy in Hawaii, and incidentally scoring the sugar trust.

A BREWERY BLOWS UP.

Six Men Killed and a Number Injured In Illinois.

MENDOTA, Ill., Jan. 26.—The main building of Henning's brewery in this city has been wrecked by a boiler explosion, the concussion being so great that every building in the city was badly shaken. The building destroyed was five stories in height and filled with machinery. The force of the explosion completely demolished it, killing six men and badly injuring six others.

The killed are: C. Seifert, foreman; David Wells, fireman; David Gheer, engineer; Lemuel De Shazo, iceman; Henry Port, laborer, and John Kennedy, a well borer of De Kalb.

The injured are: James Love, Chicago, arm and head badly cut; A. McLeod, Chicago, head and face cut; George Parker, head cut; F. McCarter, badly hurt; William Long, badly hurt, and Henry Vermore, badly hurt.

The Chicago men and Kennedy of De Kalb had but lately come here, and were engaged in sinking a well near the building.

Up to a late hour no more bodies had been found in the debris, and a blinding snowstorm almost stops work, but it is thought more men are buried under tons of brick and beams. The loss of property amounts to over $100,000, and a large number of men are thrown out of employment.

REPULSED BY THE CHINESE.

Japs Will Probably Increase Their Force to Attack Wei-Hai-Wei.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—A dispatch to The Times from Tein Tsai says that the Chinese have met the advance guard of the Japanese army near Chang Bay and repulsed them. Some of the Japanese were killed. It is believed that the Japanese will bring a larger force before making an attack on Wei Hai Wei.

A dispatch from Higo to The Times says that Field Marshal Count Oyama has proceeded to the Shan Tung province from Tientsin to conduct the operations of the Japanese forces.

A Pekin dispatch to The Times states that Wang Wen Shao, ex-viceroy of Yunnan, has been appointed to assist Li Hung Chang in the superintendence of fact, thus far curtailing the latter's functions.

Aimed at Irresponsible Journalists.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 26.—A bill has been introduced in the legislature which is aimed at irresponsible journalists. It reads as follows: "That any person who willfully state or deliver or transmit by any means whatsoever to the manager, editor or reporter of any newspaper, magazine, periodical or serial for publication therein any libelous statement concerning any person or corporation and thereby secure the actual publication of the same, is hereby declared guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding $500 and undergo an imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years, or either, at the discretion of the court."

Loss of Life Enormous.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—A dispatch to The Times from Teheran gives further details of the destructive earthquake at Kuchan. It is stated that the loss of life was enormous. Most of the victims were crushed to death by falling buildings, but many were burned to death, the ruins in which they were entangled having caught fire, 600 were entombed in a mosque while engaged in prayer. Six hundred other persons perished in the various baths.

Work of a Vigilance Committee.

O'NEILL, Jan. 26.—Developments in the Scott case have laid the whole conspiracy which resulted in the lynching before the authorities. The information is furnished by a member of the vigilance committee. Fifty men are involved in the affair, many of them of state prominence. It proves to be the work of the oath-bound organization which has for 25 years held sway in Holt county and defied all law.

Wrecked by Unknown Persons.

GREENVILLE, Miss., Jan. 26.—A serious wreck has occurred at Altae Bena, Miss., on the Georgia Pacific branch of the Southern railway system. Unknown persons drew the spikes and took up a rail of the track near a high trestle, and the westbound passenger train was wrecked. Engineer Jones was seriously scalded, Fireman Woods slightly injured and Baggage-master Tate badly bruised.

Ribot Asked to Form a Ministry.

PARIS, Jan. 26.—President Faure has summoned M. Ribot to form a cabinet and the latter has accepted the task and is now consulting with his friends.
The wife of M. Ribot was formerly Miss Minnie Burch of Chicago. Since the fall of M. Ribot's ministry under the late President Carnot he has occupied a rather obscure place in politics.

Jury Secured in the Debs Case.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—The jury in the Debs conspiracy case has been secured and the trial formally opened this morning. The jury consists of eight members, one insurance agent, one real estate agent, one dealer in agricultural implements and one painter and decorator. Not a single jurymen is from Chicago or Cook county.

Wounded, But No Recruits.

WEST DORBY, N. H., Jan. 26.—Two men came here to hire lasters to take the places of strikers in Haverhill.
While defending their mission, they engaged in a fight with several union sympatizers, and after receiving treatment from a local physician, returned to Haverhill with wounds and lotions, but no recruits.

The Receiver Can Reduce Wages.

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 26.—United States District Judge Bellinger has rendered a decision in the Oregon Railway and Navigation company wage schedule case, denying the application of the Receiver McNeil from putting into effect a reduction of wages.

Elected a New President.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26.—The board of directors of the Baltimore and Potomac railroad has elected Mr. Benjamin F.
Newcomer president, to succeed the late ex-Governor Bowie.

Bond Forger Quigley Sentenced.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Edwin O. Quigley, the municipal bond forger, has been sentenced to 15 years and 6 months imprisonment by Recorder Goff.

GRESHAM INTERVENES

He Asks Mexico to Arbitrate With Guatemala.

MEXICANS ARE WILD FOR WAR.

The Government Arsenal Working on Guns and Cartridges—Troops Being Mobilized—Mexicans Talk of Attacking a Strong Port.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 26.—The United States has undertaken to play the part of peacemaker between Mexico and Guatemala to prevent war if possible.
A telegram has been received here from Secretary Gresham, expressing the hope that Guatemala and Mexico would agree between themselves upon some method of settling the dispute over the boundary, but that if this should not be possible, the United States trusted the two countries would agree to submit their differences to the arbitration of some friendly nation. This communication from a nation which Mexico enjoys such intimate and friendly relations has caused a profound impression upon the government and undoubtedly accounts in part at least for the discussion of the minister of foreign affairs to withhold for five or six days at least the ultimum which it was about to dispatch in much less time in answer to the note from the Guatemalan government.

It is learned that the president of the United States made sure his appeal would be received in a good spirit before sending it by first communicating in an unofficial manner with Minister Remero at Washington.

That the situation has been regarded as critical, is evidenced by the fact that in the Mexican arsenal, at the citadel, there are being manufactured weekly from 40,000 to 50,000 Remington cartridges, by orders of the war department. They are also engaged night and day upon other work in order that all the artillery shall be completely ready at a moment's notice, with a full supply of all kinds of ammunition. The mobilization of troops to strategic points for an invasion of Guatemala continues daily. Up to date it is known that 18,000 troops have been sent, and the mobilization continues.

There is great excitement, and nothing is heard on the streets and in the newspapers but war talk. The people are wild for war.

A San Francisco special says: Mexico, it is reported, has decided to land troops at San Jose de Guatemala. This would be a very difficult proceeding, unless Mexico strengthened her navy, for San Jose is approachable only in barges, and a landing could only be effected at the long pier that is built out into the ocean. The surf breaks too heavy on the beach to permit the landing of troops in boats.

Mexico has five ships on the Pacific coast at her command. The first is the Democrata, 450 tons displacement, built in 1875. She carries two 6-inch rifled guns and a 3-inch gun. The Mexico and Audencia are small crafts of limited fighting qualities. The La Libertad carries a 6½-inch gun and is the oldest boat in the fleet. The Zaragoza is a modern fighter of the dispatch boat style. She is used a train ship, and is of more value from a fighting standpoint than all the other vessels in the Mexican navy put together. Guatemala bought a man-of-war vessel several years ago. It is a small schooner, not much larger than a pilotboat. One muzzle-loading gun stands on this formidable craft's bow. The weapon is not capable of being fired, however.

San Jose de Guatemala is protected by a battery of Krupp cannon that might make it warm for any ship the Mexicans have, except the Zaragoza.

Presbyterians to Have a Chautauqua.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Bass Lake, Ind., has been selected for the site of the new Presbyterian summer school and resort, fashioned after Chautauqua. The school will be controlled by the Presbyterian church, but will be conducted on liberal lines, and is expected to draw its support from all denominations. Work will be begun immediately on the large hotel, lecture rooms and other buildings that will comprise the institution, and an electric road will be built connecting Bass Lake with the grounds. The school will be opened the coming summer.

The Judge Decided Him Guilty.

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 26.—Nearly the entire session was consumed in the argument to the demurrer to the evidence in the case of E. R. Smith, the Columbia banker, charged with embezzlement, and at its conclusion Judge Livingston decided against the defendant and directed that a verdict of guilty be entered. Sentence was suspended, pending motions for a new trial and in arrest of judgment. There are nearly a score of similar indictments against him.

Charged With Arson.

LANCASTER, Ky., Jan. 26.—Marshal Arnold has arrested Henry Reddick and wife, colored, on a warrant charging them with the burning of the Miller hotel on June 1 last, in which A. E.
Pascoe, his son and mother-in-law lost their lives. The authorities claim they have sufficient grounds for the arrest.
At the time of the fire Reddick and wife were employees of the hotel.

Crocker's Horses In Europe.

GRAVESSEND, England, Jan. 26.—The steamer Mississippi from New York has arrived here with the horses belonging to Richard Crocker and Michael F. Dwyer, which are to take part in various English races. Natty Bumpo, a brown colt, 2-year-old, by Tremont, out of Tassel, died of pneumonia when the steamer was three days out. All the other horses are doing well.

Glovecutters on a Strike.

GLOVESVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Glove-cutters of two of the largest shops in the city have gone out in a body because their demands were not acceded to. It is thought a general strike of cutters is imminent.

Mrs. Hammersley to Marry Again.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—It is now positively announced that Lord William Beresford is to be married to the Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Mrs. Louis Hammersley of New York, during the coming spring.

HE IMPLORES AID.

A Former Ohioan Writes of the Suffering In Nebraska.

PEEBLES, O., Jan. 26.—Nelson Pocock, living near this city, has received a letter from his brother, Joshua Pocock of Grand Island, Neb., stating that the people in the region of Grand Island, as well as other parts of the state, were in desperate circumstances, and in many cases people were starving. Mr. Pocock says provisions have been sent several times, but that they have been stolen either by residents or tramps.

A Weak-minded Man Burned.

PEEBLES, O., Jan. 26.—William Mc-Connell, aged 44 years, has been almost burned to death on the farm of his brother, 16 miles west of here. When McConnell was a boy he was kicked on the head by a horse, and has never been right mentally since. He would not live in the same house with his brother's family, and a small hut was made for him. The other night the hut caught fire in an unknown manner, and was burned to the ground. The fire was discovered by a neighbor, who ran to the scene, knocked in the door and rescued McConnell, whose bed was then on fire, and he was terribly burned.

250 Sick With Cholera.

ELVIRA, O., Jan. 26.—A report received here from Lorain states that there are 250 people in the place sick with winter cholera, because of drinking the hydrant water of the place. The statement is from a well known physician of the town. The water contains much organic matter and various impurities. It is secured from the lake through a crib which is located too near the shore and the mouth of Black river, into which is dumped sewage. The trouble could have been remedied by the use of a filtering apparatus at small expense. There is talk of moving the crib further into the lake.

Wires Down and Traffic Delayed.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26.—A blast of wind from the south tore across Cleveland and night descending upon the streets with terrible force at Case and Payne avenues and Superior street. On those thoroughfares a total of several miles of telegraph poles were blown over, cutting off nearly all telephonic communication in the city, and blocking the Superior street and Payne avenue cable lines. The Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad at Payne avenue was covered with poles and wires, and all trains stopped for the night.

Arthur on Current Events.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 26.—P. M. Arthur, chief of the locomotive brotherhood, is here. He states that his visit is not on any special business outside of the management of the brotherhood. He says the Brooklyn strike was ill advised, but that Judge Gaynor's decision may do good in bringing about a settlement, although the court could not revoke the charters. He declined to talk on recent developments in the Knights of Labor, but was free in expressing his views on the indiscipline of John Burns.

Two Prominent Men Insane.

WINCHESTER, O., Jan. 26.—Two of the most prominent citizens here have been taken to the Athens Insane asylum. The first is Isaac Stephenson, a prominent and wealthy farmer in Monroe township, who lost his mind over the death of a daughter with fever, and with whom he sat at her bedside night and day. The other is John Shinn, a prominent young business man, and formerly well known in Cincinnati.
His insanity resulted from overwork.

An Innocent Man Pardoned.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26.—Governor Mc-Kinley has issued an unconditional pardon to John Wind, sentenced from Jefferson county in May, 1893, on a charge of burglary. He was subsequently learned that another man committed the burglary in Steubenville, and that $3 worth of stolen goods found on Wind had been given him by the robber, making Wind's crime merely a misdemeanor.

Tried to Assault a Witness.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Jan. 26.—Great excitement was created at the courthouse here by George Stafford, who had just been convicted of burglary, trying to assault one of the chief prosecuting witnesses. It required several officers to keep the man from his intended victim, and for a time the situation was very serious. Stafford's break will probably give him the maximum sentence.

Incorporated In Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26.—The following articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the secretary of state: Elder and Tuttle company, Springfield, capital stock $40,000; Dime Savings Bank company, Canton, capital stock

Joins the Family In Prison.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Jan. 26.—Frank Polly has been convicted of burglary.
He is the sixth brother who has been sent to the penitentiary for a like offense in the last year. His father is serving a similar offense.

A Manufacturer Assigns.

DEFIANCE, O., Jan. 26.—Peter Kuhn of the Kuhn Lumber company, a leading manufacturer, has assigned. Assets, $100,000; liabilities not definitely stated, but exceed assets.

An Old Firm Fails.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—The board of trade firm of William Young & Co., 237 Fifth avenue, has failed. The firm was one of the oldest on the board and the failure caused considerable excitement in the pits.

Cincinnati Live Stock Market.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 26.
HOGS—Market in fair demand and steady at $3.50@4.50; receipts, 2,200 head; shipments, 600 head.
CATTLE—Market in light demand, easy at $2.00@3.00; receipts, 500 head; shipments, 500 head.
SHEEP AND LAMBS—Sheep, market in good demand and strong at $1.50@4.00; receipts, 500 head; shipments, 500 head. Lambs in fair demand at $2.50@4.25.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs.
Bowman, of Ravine street, is seriously ill.

The trolley wire was down at the East End trestle this morning, and passengers were transferred at Ral-ston's crossing for some time.

The First Spiritual and Religious society will meet in Ferguson & Hill's hall Sunday at 7:30 p. m. Subject, "Spiritual Facts of the Age." Free to all.

Henry Hackathorne, one of the best known citizens of East End, has been ill for some time and is steadily sinking. No hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Andrews pleasantly entertained a party of about 20 married friends at their home in East End last night with games and music.
Appetizing refreshments were served.

The nine-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. George Croxall, Fifth street, is dangerously ill with spinal meningitis, resulting from pneumonia and the attending physician has no hopes for its recovery.

A number of young people spent yesterday skating along Beaver Creek.
A half dozen or more were from this city and came down on the 7 o'clock train last night wondering where all the bad weather had come from.

The weather man in Cleveland was not far out of the way when he sent word of the approaching storm to Postmaster Simms yesterday, but he should make himself of some use to this part of Ohio by doing it often.

Now that matters manifest a desire to move in East Liverpool why should not the Western Union hearken to the supplicating voice of its patrons and open an office uptown? There is business enough for two in this place.

Physicians in this city are in receipt of the 1895 announcement of the medical department of the University of Wooster. Among the trustees for the term of '96 is Rev. A. B. Marshall, D. D., formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church here.

Mr. Frank Little very enjoyably entertained the American Camping club at his home in the Diamond last evening. Music and dancing were the pleasures of the evening, after which a dainty lunch was served. The favors were red carnations, tied with blue and white ribbons.

Yesterday was the Chinese New Year, but the celestials of this city made no effort to conduct any celebration other than a quiet time in their own way. As a rule all debts are paid before the event, and Chinese business men aim to start the year with a clear record.

J. J. Purinton, Doctor Ogden and Officer King arrived this morning from Columbus where they have been attending the annual meeting of representatives from local boards of health. It was a profitable session and largely attended.

The street railway men did remarkably well during the storm last night, considering the big disadvantage they were at, and although the icy rails made travel difficult, and there was little speed made, the cars managed to make the trips to Wellsville. East End was among the bad places on the line and several cars stalled there.

Arrangements for the free concert to be given in the Grand Opera House next Friday night are being hurried, and it is confidently expected that the program will be ready for publication early next week. Haynes' band has the project in hand, and it is thought that Manley's band will also take part.
All the church choirs in the city will be present, and the music will be sacred. The collection will be for the Nebraska sufferers.

Among the many amusing incidents of this morning none were more amusing than the fall of a well-known potter on Washington street. The ice was slippery, and he imagined that he could walk much better on the street car rail. The attempt was disastrous, for his feet slipped, and he spread himself over as much of the street as he could reach, while his lunch basket rolled nearly a square before an acquaintance captured it.

It is said, and with a great deal of truth, that young boys of this place are in the habit of going to Wellsville on Saturday nights and strolling about the streets in a half drunken condition, disgusting all those whom they meet. Where they obtain their liquor, and why they go to Wellsville are facts which do not appear on the surface, but it is highly probable that they fill up when they reach the lower town, and then stay there in the hope that they will not be recognized.

The Church of Christ will begin a protracted meeting tomorrow evening.
Rev. J. H. Hamer, of North Industry, O., will continue the meeting a few days. Elder Nicholls, of Hiram, O., will also be present on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. On Friday evening Elder J. G. Slater, of Buffalo, N. Y., an able evangelist, will be present and continue the meetings for some time. The pastor, C. W.
Huffer, has almost recovered from his recent illness and will be able to assist in the meetings. There will be special music each evening.

BIG WARS CAUSED BY TRIFLES.

A Shaven Chin Cost France Three Million Lives—Modena's Bucket.

Many times it has happened that a great and costly war has been brought about by an incident trivial and even ridiculous.

Thus the war of the Spanish succession is said to have been caused through a glass of water. A lady, Mrs. Masham, was carrying a glass of water when she was obstructed by the Marquis de Torcy. A slight scuffle ensued, and the water was spilled.

The marquis thereat took offense, and bad feeling ensued between the English and French courts, with the ultimate result that a war was declared.

The campaign cost France many severe battles—viz, Blenheim, 1704; Ramillies, 1707; Audenarde, 1708, and Malplaquet, 1709.

Quite as absurd in its origin was the war that took place during the commonwealth of Modena.

A soldier stole a bucket from a public well belonging to the state of Bologna. Although the value of the article did not exceed a quarter, its annexation was the signal for a fierce and prolonged war.

Henry, the king of Sardinia, assisted the Modenese to retain the bucket, and in one of the subsequent battles he was made a prisoner. The bucket is still exhibited in the tower of the cathedral of Modena.

A third instance of a war resulting from a trifling cause was that between Louis VII of France and Henry II of England.

The archbishop of Ronen decreed that no one should wear long hair upon their heads or chins. Louis submitted to the decree, whereupon his wife, Eleanor, rallied him upon his appearance. A quarrel ensued, which resulted in the dissolution of the marriage and Eleanor's marriage with Henry.

By this marriage the broad domains in Normandy formerly belonging to Louis passed into the possession of Henry. Louis, hotly incensed, made an attack on Normandy, and henceforth, for nearly 300 years, arose those bloody and devastating wars which cost France upward of 3,000,000 of lives.—London Answers.

CARDINAL ANTONELLI.

The Great Papal Statesman as He Appeared to a Painter.

Rudolph Lehmann's visit to Rome in 1857 led to the painter's introduction to the great papal statesman, Cardinal Antonelli. He says:

Before me sat that execrated statesman, "the best hated man in Rome," in the most affable of moods. His bronzed and somewhat oriental features were certainly far from handsome, but they were full of character, energy, and, according to some, cruelty, with the large, dark, piercing eyes overshadowed by a heavy brow, the strong aquiline nose and the full sensual lips. He was in a talkative mood and spoke freely of the difficulties that beset his onerous ministry, of the position of the papacy becoming daily more threatened through the ever increasing energy of its wicked enemies, or what he called "the modern spirits." "But," he added, "history teaches us that it has always triumphed in the long run, and it will do so now." He also told me that the worldly interests of the brothers Antonelli had never been separated; that they possessed all their worldly goods in common, one brother being director of the Banca Romana; one, the Conte Gregorio, taking care of their vast possessions in the Pontine marshes, a third being syndaco of Rome and the youngest being employed in diplomatic missions by the secretary of state.

During a short rest he showed me, with evident pride, over his elegant apartment, furnished with all the latest modern comforts. But the crowning climax was the bedroom, combining with the solemnity and mystery of the abode of a prince of the church all the luxuries of the boudoir of a petite maitresse. The walls, the curtains, as well as the hangings round the spacious four poster, were of the heaviest crimson damask, looped up with enormous tassels.—Boston Herald.

The Alleghanies are fertile to the very summits, and not the least of their glories are their magnificent forests of oak, hickory, chestnut, maple, pine and other noble trees, in the spring when they are budding forth, in the summer when they are in the full bloom of maturity and when the laurel is in blossom, and in the fall, when the brilliant tints of red and gold and green and purple overwhelm one with a sense of Mother Nature's aesthetic genius in always harmonizing such a profusion of colors.

After all, it is the thoroughly satisfactory sport to be had with the game sheltered in these mountains that most endears them to the man who has any taste whatever for that sort of thing. The conditions are perfect. The game ranges from quail, or, as the Virginians call it, partridge, to deer and bear, and especially this is one of the last strongholds of that noble game bird, the wild turkey.—Magazine of Travel.

THE QUEEN BEE.

She is the Foundation, the Life and Soul of a Hive Colony.

A queen bee is essential to the colony. She is readily picked out, but by a close observer by her great length. She lives generally for about five years, but her term of life varies in different individuals from two to five or six, and in rare instances even to seven years. A queen is fed with the daintiest and best all through her embryo stage, and when hatched comes out a full queen. If any other queen is hatched—and sometimes one or two more are, pretty soon after—the rightful ruler assails the rival claimant in a life and death battle, the "stinger" being plied vigorously like a death dealing sword by both contestants, while the hive looks on in mute interest to see the issue of the battle. This is almost decided in favor of the assailant. She is then the undisputed queen and is so regarded. Yet the great company of "workers" are in some senses the real governors, and the hive is a great social democracy. If by any mischance the queen is killed, then the "workers"—who are undeveloped females—go to work to produce a new one. The egg they select for the trial is attended to with the same care, and the embryo bee is fed with the same selected food, as in the case of the egg that had produced the legitimate queen. It makes a queen, and she serves in that capacity.

Except in swarming time, the queen never leaves the hive, only on the one occasion of her bridal tour. Selecting some one for her husband, she invites him out to go with her—and their conjugal relations are carried on entirely while on the wing in the air—like the chimney swallow's. The bridegroom never returns. He drops dead, and the queen returns from her one and only aerial excursion a fully fecundated bee, ready to begin her great life work of egg laying. Some days she will lay as many as 2,000 eggs; in all, about 20,000 eggs.

In "swarming" a large part of the whole crowd goes out. They leave behind the remains of the old colony, which had grown too numerous, thus compelling the "swarming" or seeking a new home by a great part of the hive. The queen goes with the swarms, and here they follow closely. If she alights on a branch or other place, they all settle there, clinging closely together in a great mass, by much the same method as a mass of barbed wire will stick together, and the farmer's wife and "all hands" used to bang away on tin pans to govern the movements of the swarm by fright if possible. So close does the swarm follow the queen that when once in flying over a lake the queen became weary and dropped into the water every bee went down with her to death by drowning.—New York Dispatch.

BRUSSELS AND TAPESTRY.

The Difference Between These Two Kinds of Carpets Explained.

By placing a brussels and tapestry carpet side by side a clearness and sharpness are noticed about the brussels carpet which are absent from the tapestry. In the latter there is a mistiness about the colors, and the pattern lacks that sharpness and delicacy which characterize the former. This is due to the process of manufacture. A brussels is a yarn dyed, and a tapestry may be described as a printed fabric, but the printing is done upon the yarn before the process of weaving.

The whole method of manufacture is most ingenious. In the making of a five frame brussels no fewer than 1,280 ends of face yarns are required for the weaving of one piece of standard quality, each frame consisting of 256 bobbins, and 356 ends only can come to the face at each pick of the pattern. Therefore 1,024 ends of yarn are hidden in the body of the fabric. There are many qualities of tapestry, but in the production of the standard quality only 216 ends of face yarn are required, instead of 1,280, which shows at once that the brussels carpet has the great advantage of being thicker, softer and altogether a more durable cloth apart from other advantages which it possesses. There is a limitation in the number of colors used in a brussels. In tapestry there is no limit. In the brussels the whole of the colors used show a more or less striped

In a tapestry they do not show at the back at all. This fact is made use of by householders in purchasing carpets, this being about the only way the average person can tell the difference between them. In order to pass off tapestry as brussels some ingenious makers have resorted to the striping in a regular manner of the backs of the former. The striping effect in the latter is broken and irregular. A casual observation of the clearly defined character of a brussels pattern should enable a buyer to distinguish between the two fabrics.—Furnishers' Gazette.

Shakespeare and Bacon.

A famous historian well known personally in Boston told the following story when he was asked what he thought of the Shakespeare-Bacon controversy. "I was once librarian in a small town, and it was my custom to catalogue books on the real meaning of Daniel, astrology, modern spiritualism, etc. under the general head 'Insane Literature.' When any volume written in support of the Baconian theory appeared, I catalogued it under the same head."—Boston Journal.

Warned In Time.

"William," said Mrs. Youngwife from the head of the stairs to her husband, who had come home at an early hour in the morning "there is some of my home-made oake in the pantry, a new kind that I made today. I put it where you can easily find it."

"All right, dear," responded Mr. Youngwife. "How considerate of you! I might have eaten some of it without thinking." And the grateful husband made a supper of cold beef.—Philadelphia Times.
